LFT Etica Mono

Technical but not limiting, a monospaced sans that encodes the bytes of a beautiful life.

Leftloft

Milan-based Leftloft studio has produced a third leg to its hit Etica font family: LFT Etica Mono. Meant to be a coder's go-to font for everyday use as much as a designer's way to invoke a certain genre, it is part of a broader and more versatile family that already contains almost 80 sans and serif fonts.

LFT Etica Mono's ten weights carry the same modern, recognisable DNA of the Etica family while hewing to the defined requirements of a coding typeface: space, density, distinct forms, and clarity. It uses the same instroke on the 'c' and open form of the 'a' for which the Etica family is famous, but adds something new in the form of an additional italic style.

Monospaced fonts usually incorporate slanted letters as italics, as does LFT Etica Mono, but its default italics have warmer, cursive shapes while the alternate italics are simply slanted. The default 'a' is a simplified bowl and stem instead of a two storey shape; the 'd, f, i, l, t, y' and others gain an outstroke tail; the 'e' is one smooth stroke; and the default 'k' is looped. These characters have basic, slanted alternates if the cursive look isn't desired, and includes a set of arrows and geometric shapes. The monospaced design, by nature, makes the typeface useful in coding and in low readability situations.

And how does LFT Etica Mono work from the designer's perspective? The starting point was the need for a monospaced LFT Etica companion intended for technical applications: captions in graphic layouts, small text, confined or predefined space, and overall tone. Flat terminals and counters maintain the colour and versatility of the original typeface, but choosing between the organic cursive or blunt slanted alphabet will give every layout its own character. Of particular aesthetic interest may be the & and % symbols.

Designed to be applied to the common visual environment, the new LFT Etica Mono font family completes a more complex system. One benefit is to give an expressive tone — less serious and more friendly — to something inherently technical, to bytes and bots, to encode the beautiful life.

THE DESIGNERS

Leftloft is an independent studio where ideas, people, and skills converge to develop a wider vision for design, culture, and communication. Established in 1997 in Milan by Andrea Braccaloni, Francesco Cavalli, Bruno Genovese, and David Pasquali, the studio opened an office in New York in 2009, and now operates with a team of designers, each specialised in various fields from branding to web design. Leftloft has developed projects locally and internationally, collaborating with some of the most important Italian companies and institutions.

The studio has also opened Luft, a think tank devoted to developing creative thinking and a collaborative production through design. Main activities include: identity, research, concept, strategy, art direction, and narrative. Among others, Leftloft's projects have been awarded by: D&AD Award, ED-Awards, ADI Design Index, Laus Award, Creative Review Annual, TDC Annual, and ID Annual Design Review.

FAMILY UPGRADES

Buy a single weight (or more) now and get reimbursed if you buy the entire font bundle at a later time. This is a great way to explore a new typeface without full commitment. To take advantage of the upgrade, please email <code>info@type-together.com</code>.

CUSTOM WORK

We offer custom font solutions tailored to your needs. This includes developing new typefaces from scratch, modifying existing typefaces, extending language support, and creating logotypes. Please contact us for details at info@type-together.com.

LICENSING

Our complete font catalogue, along with the presented type family here, are available for print, self-hosted web applications, and app embedding from TypeTogether's online store. For other types of licences and more information, please contact us at info@type-together.com.

TESTING OUR FONTS

TypeTogether actively seeks ongoing dialogue with all type users and therefore offers free temporary licences to test any of our typefaces. The test fonts are fully functional and include the entire character set and OpenType features. To request test fonts, please contact us at <code>info@type-together.com</code>.

EDUCATIONAL & CHARITY DISCOUNT

TypeTogether offers a 25% discount on all typeface purchases for students and those in education (schools, departments, etc.). This discount also extends to NGOs and charities in general. Please contact us for details at info@type-together.com.
